District Teachers To Hear Famous Lecturer-Traveler

Departmental Program Especially Strong, Outlook For Big Meeting at Hazard, October 11-12

The teachers of the Upper Kentucky River Educational district will meet at Hazard on October 11-12. They will have the opportunity of hearing Sam Graham, well known traveler and lecturer from Cleveland, Ohio, on the Thursday evening program. On this same program there will be a contest in mountain ball singing by representatives of the different counties. This promises to be a very interesting feature of the program. The sessions will be interesting throughout with brief musical numbers.

On Thursday afternoon strong departmental programs will be presented. The elementary program will be given in the auditorium with Supt. Snyder of Owensboro, Supt. Owens of Newport, Principal Harris of Whitesburg and Supt. Sutton of Atlanta, Ga., as the speakers. In the library the high school department will present a program built around the idea of "Teaching of the high school subjects and their relation to good citizenship." On this program will appear Supt. Bald of Mt. Sterling, Supt. Smith of Hindman, Supt. Archer of Louisville, and W. P. King, secretary of the K. E. A. Another section meeting on Thursday afternoon will be a geography session which will present the idea of development of map study and map reading.

Friday morning's program, in addition to one or two outstanding speakers, will include a panel discussion of the idea of Kentucky education to ward the new tide and the new plan of education. These discussions will be led by prominent local superintendents and principals and will be presided over by Supt. Beckham of Knott County.

Friday afternoon two speakers have been promised who have outstanding messages, Dr. J. N. Hillman, president of Emory and Henry College, Emory, Va., and Homer Nichols of the State Department of Education who will talk in the Emergency Education in Kentucky. These are also scheduled for Friday afternoon very interesting conferences in library technique, in home economics, attendance officers' procedure and emergency education. These conferences are going to be outstanding events of the meeting and each one should find an interest in one of these conferences and attend the one that is interesting to you.

Just remember, teachers, that this is going to be the biggest and best meeting the Upper Kentucky River Education Association has ever had. The children and parents of Kentucky are looking to you teachers of Kentucky for your leadership, and we are sure you will not fail.

"Nature never makes any blunders—when she makes a fool, she means it!"

LEITCHER STUDENTS IN PIKEVILLE COLLEGE

There are six states, Kentucky, Virginia, West Virginia, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin represented in Pikeville College this year. Students from sixteen counties in Kentucky are enrolled. The total enrollment is 302. Of this number fifteen are Letcher County students. Following is a list of Letcher County students:

Freshmen: Robert C. Well, Neen; Goldie Webb, Millstone; Ella Martha Vermillion, Whitesburg; Mary Lois Tolliver, Neen; Lena Lee Sturgill, Whitesburg; Homer M. Skaggs, Neen; Sherman Meade, Seco; Dorothy Ann Kilgore, Whitesburg; Joe Craft, Thornton; Claude Colbert Amburgey, Neen. Sophomores: Geraldine M. Webb, Mayking; Edna McMillan, Fleming; Bonnie Holbrook, Millstone; Cecil B. Craft, Millstone; Mrs. Myrtle Frazier Caudill, Ocasaloom.

Jim Finchum Found Dead Near Mayking

Body Was Found on Railroad Tracks; Head Missing And Not Yet Found

Early Monday morning, Jim Finchum, about fifty-five, saw mill man and farmer living late by at Sergeant, was found near Mayking, mangled and dead on or near the L&N railroad track. The body of the man was cut entirely off and the last rest we had, searchers were unable to find it.

It is not known how he was killed. Any way, a train, either the night before or early that morning, had run over the body. The head of the man was cut entirely off and the last rest we had, searchers were unable to find it.

Jim Finchum was a drinking man, and on the evening before he was found, he was drunk and stirring around at Mayking, though late that night it is said he appeared perfectly sober. Just what he was doing at the spot where he met his death and two miles from his home at Sergeant at that time is not known.

Jim Finchum when out of whiskey was an upright and honorable man, and when drinking was generally quiet and peaceable. He was a hard worker and reared a large family, most of whom are grown. He leaves a widow, his children and a great number of friends to mourn his loss.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Mrs. Burley Hale entertained in honor of her daughter, Florence Irene's twelfth birthday at her home on College Hill. Those present were: Jack Passmore, Steve Bowen, Ruth and Cecil Williams, Beulah Pitter, Celia Shepherd, Mildred Sergeant, Tommy Blair, Mildred Williams, Nelly Bennett, Jimmy Boyd, Geraldine and Parnell Johnson, Mabel Brown, Nene-miah Craft, William Gibson, Jack Swisher, Ralph Frazier, Joanne and Jennie Lewis, Elaine Stamper and Colby Adams.

COMBS-MOORE

Miss Viola Combs, charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Combs, and Ferdinand Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Moore, announced their marriage on June the ninth at Mount Vernon, Ky.

Mr. and Mrs. Moore are at home now in Whitesburg. In passing the Eagle gladly takes time to offer these excellent young folks nearest congratulations, and extends to them the very sincerest of best wishes.

At this time on Wednesday 42 persons are confined in the county jail on Broadway. Others are expected to enlist in the army at any time.

Circuit Court Now In Session

Trials of Robert Day and Earl Brown Set For 11th Day of Present Term

Circuit Court is moving off nicely. A great number of cases are being tried, and numbers are going to jail. The justice shows unmistakable signs that they are standing for law and order. The grand jury is hard at work trying to ferret out those so prone to offend. It is not yet definitely decided whether the trials of Robert Day and Earl Brown, indicted at this term of court, will be brought to trial this court. If so, it will most likely be toward the end of the term. Hundreds of people are daily in town, generally interested in Circuit Court. Judge Childers resists in going strongly against those who persist in violations.

The trials of Robert Day and Earl Brown were set for the 11th day of the present term of court. They are in jail here denied bond.

FOR SALE OR TRADE

ONE GOOD COW. Five years old and one half in good condition, for sale for cash or in trade. Will trade either for hogs. Call on C. F. Blair, Detroit, Ky.

JUDGE FIELDS DELIVERS ABLE TALK

It was a crowded courtroom that gave earnest attention to the serious talk of Judge R. Monroe Fields Monday in his charge to the new grand jury. The Judge cautiously and carefully measured his words as he spoke of his survey of the condition of our county, with reference to the crime waves which constantly spread over it, especially dealing with the fact that the criminal calendar shows that the younger set is mostly represented. He referred to the deplorable fact that within the last few years parents and guardians in their efforts to make living had loosened the reins on their children and allowed them to grow up without restraint, had allowed them to mix and mingle with the debased classes and thus go on the broad road to ruin. The old maxim, "Train up a child in the way it should go," is often quoted, was strongly impressed. That the "wages of sin are death" and that no man has been able to dispute, was flung boldly into the face of the upturned hundreds of faces and produced visible effects in those who heard it. We have yet to hear a more earnest and vigorous appeal for good conduct and better law enforcement in our country. That talk delivered to hundreds of our most representative citizens, should bear fruits. Every one present undoubtedly knew that the Judge was telling the truth, and coming from a man who can have no other motive except for good, the advice given should not only be taken seriously but lived in every-day life.

OCTOBER IS HIT MONTH AT KENTUCKY THEATRE

The true fall season now gets in full swing. Masterpieces with the greatest stars will be shown here at the Kentucky this month. You'll know why we call October "Hit Month" when you see such masterpieces as: Dr. Monica, Little Man, What Now?, House Wife, Side Street, She Loves Me Not, Dragon Murders, Case, Whirlwind, Circus Clown, The Cat's Paw, Ladies Should Listen, Notorious Sophie Lange, Friends of Mr. Sweeney, Scarlet Empress and Stand Up and Cheer.

SECO

The Seco Hospital has been crowded with patients for the past week but in that time there has been no deaths.

Dr. Wright was called to Harlan to perform a dangerous operation on Ollie Smith. Mr. Smith was suffering with an intestinal obstruction. The latest is that he is practically well.

Dr. and Mrs. Yoak, of Western Kentucky, are here visiting their son, Rev. Yoak, pastor of the Methodist church.

Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Moss and Dr. and Mrs. B. F. Wright are attending the meeting of the State Medical Association at Harlan.

The little child of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Pitter, of Jenkins, is dangerously ill with pneumonia in the hospital here, will be able to return to its home this week.

New Church To Be Dedicated

In Cumberland Valley, Oct. 7, Backet Dinner and Sunday School Rally Included

We are sending through the East a special invitation to everyone to come to the dedication of the new Presbyterian Church in Cumberland Valley.

Get all the family together, pack a basket and crank up the Ford and be there by eleven o'clock, Whitesburg time.

Rev. H. L. Cockerham, of Blackey, will preach at the morning service. After dinner there will be a Sunday School rally for an hour with some interesting talks from different people.

This church building replaced the old church that was built in the valley thirty years ago. Everyone come with us and enjoy the day.

O. V. Caudill, Pastor.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank those who stood by us in our deep sorrow during the illness and death of our son, Charles Adams, Jr. We especially want to thank Dr. Crawford and Dr. Collier who worked day and night so bravely, and the preacher for the service and for the beautiful floral offering.

Mr. & Mrs. Charles Adams

REV. W. V. CROPPER TO PREACH AT M.E. CHURCH

Dr. W. V. Cropper, newly appointed Presiding Elder of the Lexington district, will preach at the evening service at the Methodist Church this coming Sunday night. Dr. Cropper is known through the conference as a preacher of real ability, and his message is anticipated by those who know him.

NEW LIQUOR STORE OPENED THIS WEEK

The Whitesburg Liquor Dispensary, located on Webb Ave. and Main Street, Louis Budnick proprietor, is opening for business this week. Mr. Budnick is well known to our people, having been a merchant at Neen for a number of years.

Great Number Of Sales On First Day Of Circuit Court

Apex Coal Company Property and Dr. Fitzpatrick Farm Included In Sales

Monday was sale day at the courthouse door. A great number of sales were made by Mrs. Fields, Master Commissioner, the sheriff and Mr. Harvie, who had charge of a receiver's sale for the Apex Coal Company. The property generally went at amazingly low prices. Dr. Wright was the purchaser of the 100-acre Dr. Fitzpatrick farm on Solomon and the entire coal operation of the Apex Coal Company. Sol Frazier became the owner of the small vacant business lot on Main Street lying next to the First National Bank Building. Frequently there was lively bidding. Mr. Fairchild bought several of the pieces of property for the Fitzpatrick heirs, which was being sold for debts owing to the old National Bank.

BACH REUNION TO BE HELD

On next Sunday, October 7, the Bach family and their relatives of Eastern Kentucky and elsewhere will be held at the mouth of Quicksand, near Jackson. Everybody is welcome to attend. Dinner will be served on the ground, and a great assemblage is expected to be present.

TILLIE & ISOM

Again as usual Colly had another basketball game with Smoot, 17-10 in favor of Colly. Colly also won an arithmetic match. Aunt Mary Collins has promised to present to each boy a basketball suit for being the winners of every game played this year.

Mrs. B. C. Collins, of T. B. Collins, visited Mr. and Mrs. S. Collins the past week-end and gave them a very nice wedding present.

Claude Collins of Millstone, near Louisville, has a business course.

Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Collins and several others are attending the revival at Whitesburg. Tip Cornett and Harrison Boggs of Lincofork were here to attend the memorial services of John Tyrer's daughter. But the weather was so it had was postponed.

FUNERAL NOTICE

The funeral of Aunt Martha Adams will be preached next Saturday and Sunday at the family graveyard on Little Cowan. Regular Baptist ministers will be in charge of the services.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Ammerman have returned after a few days in Cincinnati.

Jack May Opens Campaign Here On Saturday

Big Crowds Expected On This Day; Other Noted Speakers Also To Be Here

Hon. Jack May, Democratic nominee for Congress in our district, will open his campaign here next Saturday and a great crowd is expected to be in town. Congressman May is an eloquent speaker, one of the leading orators, and it will be worth anyone while, either Democrat or Republican, to hear him. Of course, he comes to us fresh from the law-making seat of the Government up at Washington and knows the ways and wherefores of every move of the Administration to restore this country back to the realm of hope and prosperity.

It is said that a large motorcade, carrying hundreds of people from the Sandy Valley and other counties of the district, are to attend the campaign opening and hear what the Congressman has to say. Other well known and equally qualified speakers, it is stated, will be on hand to help entertain. Bodies of local United Mine Workers are also expected to come to Whitesburg on that day and enjoy the occasion.

In Memory of Elder David Maggard

James Maggard, son of the late Eld. David Maggard, who died in his eightieth year, for the last eight or ten years, sends the following account of his deceased father with request to publish:

"Eld. D. M. Maggard had been preaching sixty-two years the day he was stricken down. He lived ten days after this. He called his preaching brethren to his bed and asked them to continue in the faith and doctrine that he had always held. That he had to go, that he had fought a good fight, had finished his work the Lord had called him to do. The preachers he generally talked to in his last few days were Elds. W. R. Biggs, Felix G. Fields, W. R. Scott, Caleb Creech and Enoch Blair. These preached for him up to his last moment. He would often raise up from his bed and join in the preaching. I want to thank his friends and nine who were so kind and patient with us. I feel that God will grant them blessings. A light is vacant in our little home that no human can fill, but we know that light is shining on the other shore.

"I want to thank the brethren and all our friends far and near for their kindness to us."

"James Maggard."

Note: Some of the interesting facts in the career of Elder Maggard are disclosed from records of the old Owen Fork church are as follows: Eld. David Maggard born Dec. 18, 1839. Received into the church the second Saturday in May, 1867. Ordained as deacon Sept. 7, 1868. Liberalized to force a public gift in any of the sister churches of the same faith and order in the second Saturday in July, 1872. Was married to Miss Sarah Mullins August 6, 1869. She was born January 9, 1834 and was received into the fellowship of the old Owen Fork church July 2, 1887. She was deceased May 20, 1926. The old record of the church reads: "I was ordained to the ministry of the gospel where God in his providence may call him on the 13th day of Oct. 1867."

As heretofore recorded, Eld. Maggard was taken from his earthly tenement of clay to life everlasting on Sept. 3, 1934.

AN INTERESTING INVESTIGATION IN TRIAL

Late last week it was our privilege to listen to an interesting examination trial before Judge Adams here.

Virgil Holbrook nine years old and weighing sixty-nine pounds, was on trial for killing Whitford Adams, also nine, and about the same weight. According to the evidence at the examination, the two little boys were out near McKoberts hunting crows with some target boys, met and a banter for the little boys to fight was made. One of the slightly larger boys proposed to give ten cents for fifteen cents to the Holbrook boy if he would whip the Adams boy. The fight began and the Holbrook boy struck Adams by several blows with his fist in the back. There was considerable wrestling and rolling over in the fight. The Adams boy returned to his home flushed faced and complaining, claiming to be badly injured. He gradually grew worse, physicians were called and finally he was sent to the hospital at Jenkins, where he died in about fifteen days after the fight. Physicians say he died of kidney trouble.

The whole routine of evidence showed that it was little boy fight with no intent of doing serious injury or a little life placed on the altar. Something back of all this is responsible for this little boy's life. No one can tell whether the fight brought on the kidney trouble resulting in his death. At least from the hour of the fight the little fellow grew worse and worse till the end came.

Our only object in extenuating on this news item is to draw attention to the fact that parents are neglecting their children, that children are often injured even to death or long into their lives by not being taught the extreme dangers of over-exercising and inflamed tempers. That young men and often older ones, stunt and age on children fights, making them believe it is brave and honorable for them to do so. Passion and madness in children and in even grown persons create poisons in the body that may result in death. The animal and human body is wonderfully and delicately constructed. No matter how wise physicians become or how deeply others become versed in science no one can know the intricacies that operate in a living body.

(Too late for last week)

The home economies department is happy over the recent acquisition of a beautiful dining room suite consisting of table, chairs, buffet and china cabinet. This was made possible by the use of part of the income from the Auxiliary birthday offering of 1932.

Miss Sallie McCrorey, who has been with her niece, Miss Jennie Lee Crafton, for some time, left Friday afternoon for her home at Woodland, Ga., to stop enroute to visit relatives in Atlanta for a few days. Miss Crafton accompanied her as far as Winchester.

Mrs. P. A. Tice, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Tice and Miss Martha Tice spent the week-end in Lexington.

Mrs. Martha Russell of Belle view, Mo., arrived Friday night for a brief stay with her daughter, Miss Lizzie Russell. From here she plans to go to Davidson, N. C., for a visit to Rev. and Mrs. Plumer Smith, who are living there temporarily.

Miss Mildred Thompson enjoyed the week-end with her family at Thornton.

Our first foot ball game of the season was played on the home field with Hazard Saturday afternoon, resulting in a 13 to 13 tie.

Mrs. Ollie Canida, Joe Canida and Miss Geneva Easterling came over from Heller for the game and remained with us until Sunday morning.

Jacqueline Larkey of Hazard was with Dorothy Tice for the week-end.

Jerrie Alcorn, whose skull was slightly fractured on the foot ball field here last week, is getting on quite nicely, and we hope he will soon be able to return to school.

Carl Shepherd, of Simpson, entered school as a boarding student Monday. The dormitory girls entertained the foot ball team Saturday evening with an outdoor party, which was much enjoyed by all persons create poisons in the body that may result in death. The animal and human body is wonderfully and delicately constructed. No matter how wise physicians become or how deep-

An Old Time Song

Come all my friends on Cumberland,
You are most dear to me;
A place and people whom I love,
That I no more shall see.

There is a place most dear to me,
The far from it I've given;
'Twas where I first my Saviour found,
And felt my sins forgiven.

There I received a living hope,
I'm living on it yet;
All other things may pass away,
But that I don't forget.

We are scattered now in foreign lands,
Which gives us grief and pain;
But let us dry our sorrow up,
In hopes to meet again.

Perhaps the next time we shall meet
Will be on Canaan's shore,
Where all our tears are wiped away,
And partings be no more.

Let us with patience run the race,
And keep the prize in view;
And trust in God with all our hearts,
And He will lead us through.

My brother preachers, boldly speak
Where'er you take the stand;
And be obedient to His call,
And go at His command.

Through heat and cold I've often wait,
That you may joyful be;
I've labored long, both day and night,
To do my Master's will.

My labor's almost at an end,
I've come now near the shore,
When I must close my Bible up
And take the land no more.

So, farewell brethren, one and all!
Now live in peace, Oh, do!
And then the God of peace and love
Shall surely be with you.

I leave these lines upon your minds
That you may joyful be;
Then when you sing these lines of mine,
You'll then remember me.

(Composed and written by Elder David Maggard, Sr., and sent to Elder David Maggard, Jr., as a part of a letter dated January 28, 1894, written from Elbert County to Maggard, Letcher County, Ky.)

lines, both of whom underwent operation for appendicitis recently, are well on the road to recovery.

Syrup-making is the order of the day with us just now. Mr. Knox and his boys, assisted by Mr. Cokerham, have already made 75 gallons of excellent molasses, and we expect to have about 200 more.

Mr. Phillips and another group of boys are busily engaged in repairing the old roofs, and putting some new one on the campus buildings. During the summer they painted the buildings, including the farm cottages, all of which adds much to the attractiveness of our surroundings.

MILLSTONE

Our school is progressing nicely, with Watson Webb as principal. His group of teachers are Mrs. Honnie Crooch, Effie Collins and Charles Wright. We are looking forward to this being the best school year we have ever had.

A large crowd attended the Sunday night service, with Mr. Kenneth Clay as preacher. We were very glad to have with us his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Clay.

Clyde Reese, of Huntington, W. Va., is visiting at the home of his sister, Mrs. Archie Craft. Claude Collins left for Louisville Saturday morning, where he has accepted a position. His family will join him soon. We regret very much to lose these good people.

Governor Laffoon Yields In Relief Money Wrangle

Most everybody felt like Governor Laffoon was right in his stand on turning loose Kentucky's relief money until better guarantees were made as to its spending. But the papers are saying today he has yielded to the demands and will release the money. So, relief funds will be at least available for October. For a long time, if we must say it, a lot of people, right or wrong, have been sick as to the way the state and nation relief funds are spent. Governor Laffoon is fed up on reports and loose discrepancies.

We May Lose Great Highway

If our business people of Perry and Letcher counties do not do something at once they stand on turning loose the great Appalachian Highway, extending directly from the Great Lakes through Kentucky, through Hazard, Whitesburg and on to St. Augustine, Fla., on the Gulf. A great meeting of this highway association is to be held at Appalachia and Big Stone Gap on October 11, and in order to avert the danger of losing the highway we must send a large delegation of our people to the meeting in order to fight it off.

Arouse and we probably save it, sleep and we sure lose it. Harlan is anxious to take it away from us. Let's go and save it. To do so will be worth millions to us and our generation; to lose it puts us in the backwoods forever. Again, let's go.

SANDLICK

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Pendleton, daughter and son, Ruth and Giles, Miss Edith Hubbard and J. D. Pendleton spent Sunday with Mr. Pendleton's brother, J. S. Pendleton, at Big Stone Gap, Va.

Mrs. Ival Back of Sandlick, has been quite ill for the past few days, due to a severe cold. The kindergarten at Sandlick coal camp is progressing nicely under the direction of Miss Ruth Pendleton as the very efficient teacher.

What Vocation Shall My Boy Choose?

By Charles Ellison,
Principal, School of Advertising,
International Correspondence Schools.

We live in a changing world. Opportunities for success in the future will differ from those in the past. A boy's wise choice of his life work may do much to determine success or failure. How shall he choose?

The Opportunity in Advertising

WIDER distribution of the products which our factories can turn out in almost unlimited quantities is generally admitted to be the chief problem of the age. With equal unanimity advertising is admitted to be one of the chief aids to wider distribution. It cuts costs by permitting mass production; it widens demand by creating new desires. There is every reason to believe advertising will offer even greater opportunities in the future than it has in the past.

What is the most important qualification which the young man must possess to succeed in advertising? Not literary ability, as many believe, but rather the ability to devise effective plans for the marketing and advertising of the product, and to analyze the product and the prospective customers wants so as to discover how the most effective appeal can be made. This is no inborn ability. It comes as a result of close study of modern merchandising methods.

How can the young man best break into the ranks of advertising? Hundreds of firms who are practically all types of advertising are required. Selling of all kinds—over-the-counter, home-to-home and door-to-door—the direct for construction of an ocean liner—is close allied to advertising. Any number of men have traveled along these and other routes to success in advertising, using every opportunity to study the methods and problems of modern merchandising while on the way.

Big Crowds Expected at Appalachian Way Convention 11 to 13

Preparations are being made for the entertainment of 300 delegates to the ninth annual convention of the Appalachian Way Association, which will convene in Appalachia and Big Stone Gap for three days, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Oct. 11, 12 and 13.

The first day will be occupied with a business session at which plans for the completion of the only missing link, the Appalachia-Lynch road, will be made. A banquet will be served Thursday night at the Appalachian Hotel.

The main business session will be held Friday morning at which a large delegation of local business leaders are expected to attend. The meeting will be held in the Appalachia Theatre building and will be in charge of W. F. Wooten, of Hazard, Ky., president of the Association.

A full afternoon of entertainment has been promised the visitors at the Leesport Pine Country Club in Big Stone Gap. Besides golf and bridge in the afternoon, an old time barbecue for which the mountains are noted will be held late in the afternoon. A dance at the club house will climax the day's entertainment.

Brazil Nuts Add Variety to Menu

By Caroline B. King
Home Economics and Culinary Authority

WILLAT a lot of the good things we have to eat we owe to those sturdy old sea captains who scouted over the seas and into foreign countries looking for appetizing edibles for everyone who appreciates fine eating. Long, long ago, they began their intemperate work of bringing back delicious to eat on our tables. Among the importations from South America came the Brazil nut, with its delicious flavor, and so rich in all the necessary food qualities, that we are now using it more and more in modern cookery, not only as a garnish but as a main ingredient to add distinction to our meals.

Brazil nuts are especially useful in all kinds of cookery. They are a distinct addition to salads, dressings and sweetmeats. They may also be salted, roasted, fried and prepared in several ways to serve as here. However, and especially added to these uses, the Brazil nut because of its valuable food properties makes a most satisfactory meat substitute and may be used in combination with other foods as the piece de resistance for many a warm weather meal. For instance, try the following recipes:

1. Sweet Potato and Brazil Nut Croquettes (Illustrated above): Boil and mash well, enough sweet potatoes to make 1 cupful. Add 1/2 teaspoonful of salt, 1 tablespoonful of butter, 1 beaten egg and 3/4 cupful of chopped Brazil nuts. Mix thoroughly, shape into croquettes, dip in egg and crumbs and fry in deep boiling fat. Garnish with peas, onion, pieces of the stalks for stems, and serve very hot.

2. Brazilian Leaf: Chop or grind fine enough Brazil nuts to make 1 cupful, add 2 cupfuls of soft bread crumbs, 1/2 cupful of finely chopped celery, 1/2 cupful of shredded green pepper, 1 tablespoonful of minced onion, 1/2 teaspoonful each of pepper and paprika, mix all well, make into a loaf, place in a greased pan and bake 35 to 40 minutes. Serve with tomato sauce or cream sauce.

Salted Brazil Nuts are a happy accompaniment to any meal. Prepared in the following way they are delicious and free from the usual seasonings of salted nuts. Roast shelled Brazil nuts in the oven, until brown, then rub between towels to remove the skin, roll in the beaten egg white, spread on a pan and sprinkle lightly with salt. Bake in a cool oven to dry.

THE JIM HUGHES CASE ON TRIAL

Today, in the afternoon, James Hughes, charged with the murder of Joe Drew, went on trial in Circuit Court. The jury consists of some of the regular panel, the others from by-standers. On this evening only two witnesses were used. Mrs. Drew, widow of the slain man being the first. She told of the quarrel she had with Hughes on the evening before and of his coming to the front of the house in Haymond where she and her husband were playing early next morning and call him out on the street. She also told of the two licks struck, one each by the men, and then of Hughes shooting him. This killing took place in the town of Haymond on Sunday morning, July 8th, this year.

TO OUR CUSTOMERS:

Less than half a cent an hour on the average is all that it costs for their electric service. Even a Chinese coolie would turn down such puny wages. But that is the average sum paid to have this miracle working helper on duty, twenty-four hours a day - no days off - prompt and always right on hand when needed.

Here is the perfect servant working for wages which are by far the cheapest in the family budget. Your electric service costs less per day than the price of a package of cigarettes, or an ice cream soda.
